THE RELIGIOUS NEWS.

The convention of all the Sunday-schools in Breckenridge county will be held at the M. E. church, South, in this city, on June 9. The program will be published later.

Rev. T. R. Kendall, pastor of Settle Chapel, at Owensboro, will begin a protracted meeting at the M. E. church, South, tonight, to continue about two weeks. Preaching service will be held each day at 8 o'clock in the afternoon and 7:30 o'clock in the evening. The public is cordially invited to attend all these services.

The protracted meeting at the Baptist church, conducted by Rev. J. C. Bolton, of near Louisville, closed Sunday evening. The meeting began Sunday morning, April 8, and two services were held each day. On last Sunday Rev. Bolton preached a sermon for the children in the afternoon. The attendance was good throughout the meeting and many sermons, strong from a logical standpoint, were heard by attentive auditors. The addition Sunday evening, Mr. Fletcher Pauley, will be baptised next Sunday evening after the regular service.

Carl Lamb, the fourteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Lamb, died Sunday night at 9:50 o'clock of pneumonia and its grippe. He was ill only a week and his death was a shock to friends and relatives, as some improvement was noticed in his condition several hours before death came. The funeral was held from the family residence at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon and the interment was in the city cemetery. Rev. P. L. King, of the Methodist church, conducted the funeral services. The pall-bearers were Chas. Jackson, Otto Fallon, Mack Miller, Stuart Babbage, J. D. Babbage, Jr., and Frank Wingo, friends and schoolmates of the deceased. At 3 o'clock the city public school, of which the deceased was a member, was dismissed and many school children were in attendance.

PICKED UP.

Dr. Cox, of Cannelton, Ind., was called to Owensboro Friday to see his daughter, Mrs. Brownfield, who was quite sick.

The cannery factory at Dukes has been laid over until next fall on account of not getting every thing in shape. The movers in this enterprise say they have not given up but will surely make it go and have everything in good shape for business next season.

The road from this city to Dukes is traveled more than any road leading to town and is in a worse condition. It needs attention right now and the commission ought to see to it that it is put in shape for travel. One place especially where a bridge has been washed away and is laying on the side of the road should be fixed. Just a little work would put this back in place and save maybe the lives of people and the breaking of their vehicles. It is a very bad place and the wonder is that loaded wagons get over it at all. It is dangerous too. Commissioner Harris should see to it at once.

Frank Carter, of Irvington, who has been at Vine Grove for two weeks, under the treatment of a physician, returned home Monday very much improved in health.

Mrs. John Wimp, of Irvington, returned from Louisville Monday.

B. F. Beard, Chas. Beard and Chantz Royalty, of Hardinsburg, went to Louisville Monday.

Nick Greathead sold to Cas. Whitehead last week 4 head fine steers at 4 cents, weight 1,300.

Mr. Houston Miller returned Monday from a visit to his niece, Mrs. Milton Board, at Hopkinsville. He says he enjoyed his visit very much and was agreeably surprised at the way things are carried on at the Asylum. Says there is perfect system, order and cleanliness. That Dr. Board has everything well in hand and is conducting the institution in a creditable manner to himself and all concerned.

Nick Mattingly and his boys living down in Daviess county, opposite Rockport, Ind., made a fine crop of cucumbers last year and sold at good figures. They will pitch another big crop of Burley this year. They have splendid land for Burley, are fine tobacco raisers and no doubt will raise a good article and strike it rich if the price keeps up. They moved from this county about ten years ago and are getting in good shape own a good river bottom farm and make money every year.

J. S. R. Wedding Dead.

Hon. J. S. R. Wedding, a prominent lawyer and one of the leading Republicans of Ohio county, died at his home at Hartford Friday afternoon of cirrhosis of the liver after over a year's illness. He came of an old and highly respected Ohio county family and was elected to Congress in 1892 as a Republican for the Fourth congressional district. The deceased was well-known in Breckenridge county.

ROYAL Baking Powder

Makes the food more wholesome, and more nutritious to both brain and muscle.

I have given the Training Table to the Cornell University for five years very satisfactorily, and am certain that much of the success has depended upon the quality of articles used. In baking powder, I use the Royal, for it is undoubtedly the best. I have occasionally given others a trial, and have demonstrated to my satisfaction that there is but one always reliable, always making perfect, delicious and wholesome food,—The Old Reliable "Royal."

THE STROLLERS

By FREDERIC S. ISHAM,
Author of "Under the Rose"

CHAPTER XXVIII.

IN the will of the Marquis de Ligne, probated yesterday, all of the property, real and personal, is left to his daughter, Constance," wrote Straus in his paper shortly after the passing of the French nobleman. "The document states the disposition of property in much as an act of atonement and justice to my daughter, whose mother I deserted, taking advantage of the French law to annul my marriage in England. The legitimacy of the birth of this, his only child, is thereupon fully acknowledged by the marquis after a lapse of many years and later after the heretofore unrecognized wife had died deserted and forgotten. Thrown on her own resources, the young child, who can no other friend than Manger Barnes, battled with the world, now playing in taverns or barns, like the players of interludes, the strollers of old or 'vagabonds' as the great and mighty Junius from his lofty place might think. The story of that period of vagrant life adds one more chapter to the annals of strolling players which already include such names as Kemble, Siddons and Keate.

"From the limits category to a public favorite of New Orleans has been no slight transition, and now to appear in the role of daughter of a marquis and heiress to a considerable estate—truly man and woman, play many parts in this brief span called life. But in making her side heir the marquis specifies a condition which will bring respect to the name of the admirers of the actress. He bids her of her birthright from her mother. The will stipulates that the recipient give up her profession, not because it is other than a noble one, but that she may the better devote herself to the duties of a marquis and by her long endurance and charity remove the stain left upon an honored name by my second wife, the Duchess d'Argens.

On the same day this public expression appeared Barnes and the young actress were seated in the law office of Marks & Culver, a room overlooking a courtyard bordered by statues and urns of flowers. While the manager and actress waited for the attorney to appear they were discussing the first time, the first time of the will in which Straus had regretfully alluded.

"Yes," said Barnes, following the news paper which contained Straus' article and placing it in his pocket, "you should certainly give up the stage. You must think of the disappointment of the possible future, the slender reward. There was your mother—such an actress! Yet toward the last the people looked to a younger rival. I have often thought anxiously of your future, for I am old—yes, there is no denying it—and yet I may have you dependent solely upon yourself."

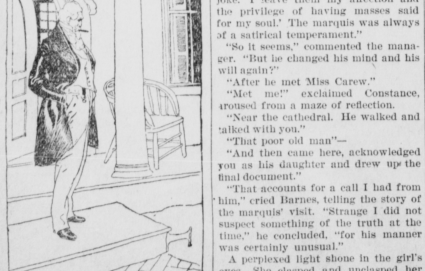

"Do not speak thus, dear," she answered fondly. "We shall be together many, many years."

"Always if I had my way," he returned heartily. "But you tell me you are superior to the fickle public. In fact you are now a part of the capricious public, my dear," he added with a jesting tone, and now appeared the heavy father, himself, or grating about prevailing styles while the business transaction is strutting before you. Why turn to a blind horse? Fame is a jade, only caught after our illusions are gone, and she seems not half so sweet as when pursuing her in our dreams."

Now, reading the anxiety in his face as he watched her, she smiled reassuringly, her glance full of love, meeting his.

"Everything shall be as you wish," she said softly. "You know what is best."

The manager's face lighted perceptibly, but before he could answer the

He stood for a moment watching them, door opened and Culver, the attorney, entered. With ruddy countenance and youthful bearing, in authenticity to the hair silvered with white, he was one of those southern gentlemen who grow old gracefully. The law was his taskmaster; he practiced from a sense of duty but ever held that those who in England with your mother to marry the Duchess d'Argens, a relative of the royal princess. But Charles abdicated, and the duchess died. All this, however, is painful to you, Miss Carew."

"Only such as relates to my mother," she replied in a clear tone. "I suppose I should feel grateful for this fortune, but I am afraid I do not. Please go on."

"Culver leaned back in his chair, his glance bent upon a discolored statue of Psyche in the courtyard. "Had the marquis attended to his garden, his Candide or your humble servant, and considered the company of kings, he might have been as care free as he was wretched. His monarchs were knocked down like tinclips. Louis XVIII. was a man of straw, Charles X. a feather top and Louis Philippe a toy ruler. The marquis' domestic life was as unobscured as his political career. The frail duchess left him a progeny of scoundrels. These, the only offspring of the iniquitous dame, were punctured in the journals for about a month. Fancy, then, his delight in disinheriting his wife's relatives and leaving his daughter, his fortune and his name."

"His name," she repeated sadly. With averted face she watched the fountain in the garden. "If he had given it to my mother, she would not have been so poor. I do not care for it. Her name is all I want." Her voice trembled, and she exclaimed passionately: "I should rather Mr. Saint-Prospere would keep the property and I—my work. After denying my mother and deserting her, how can I accept anything from him?"

"Under the new will," said Culver, "the estate does not revert to Mr. Saint-Prospere in any event. But you might divide it with him," he added suddenly.

"How could I do that?" she asked without looking up.

"Marry him," laughed the attorney. "But the best met with scant response, his fair client remaining motionless as a statue, while Barnes gazed at her curiously. Culver's smile gradually faded. Uncertain how to proceed, realizing his humor had somehow miscarried, he was not sorry when the manager arose, saying:

"Well, my dear, it is time we were at the theater."

"Won't you accept this message from my garden, Miss Carew?" urged the lawyer in a propitiatory tone as they were leaving.

And the attorney not only accompanied them to the door, but down stairs to the street, where he stood for a moment watching them drive down the thoroughfare. Then he slowly returned, breathing heavily—invidious contradiction of his youthful assumption—and shaking his head as he mounted to his room.

"Culver, you certainly put your foot in it at that time," he muttered. "How she froze at my suggestion! Has there been some passage of arms between them? Apparently! But here am I, pondering over romances, with all this legal business staring me in the face." His glance swept a chaos of declarations, bills, affidavits and claims. "Confound the man's old courtship and the bustling Yankee lawyers who set such a disturbing pace! There is no longer gentlemanly leisure in New Orleans."

He seated himself with a sigh before a neglected brief. In the distance the towers of the cathedral could be seen, reminding the attorney of the adjacent halls of justice in the seamy looking square, with its turmoil, its beggars and apple women in the lobby; its acrid, offensive smell, its riotous stables, its length of time, its signs and its babel of tongues. Above him, however, the plaster bust of Justinian out of those blank, sightless eyes outlined the contemplation of the complex jurisprudence of the ancients and moderns to the simple existence of butterfies and flowers.

BIG CUT IN PIANO AND ORGAN PRICES.

Kimball Company Inaugurate Big Sale, Account Store Alterations and to Clear Out
Last Season's Case
Styles.

ENTIRE STOCK AT ONE-FOURTH TO ONE-HALF OFF

Best Makes to Choose From—Kimball, Hallet & Davis, Whitney, Brammiller, Hinz, Dunbar and Other
Pianos.

GREATEST MONEY-SAVING
OPPORTUNITY EVER OFFERED

Easy Payments Offered to All—
Sale Begins Monday, April 12—Continues Only Twelve Days.

Those who may be contemplating the purchase of a piano, organ or piano player, will have an opportunity in the next twelve days to supply home and family with a good instrument at a very decided money-saving price.

The reason for this great cut in the price of our entire stock is simply this: Carpenters, painters and decorators will take possession of our warehouses about May 1, where extensive alterations are to be made, which will necessitate the cleaning out of a large portion of our stock, but only to make room for the workmen, but to get it out of the rubbish and dust arising from the work, which is ruinous to the highly polished surfaces of pianos.

Then, too, we have quite a number of new pianos, in various good makes, in last season's case designs, that we not only desire, but will close out if a deep cut in the price will move them—and we know it will, for they are very desirable pianos in every way, slight changes in the curving of some of the later designs having been made.

But in order to free our floors of a large portion of the instruments for the alteration of the store, the entire stock is offered at 25 to 50 per cent off of regular, established retail prices.

Every instrument will be tagged and marked in plain figures, both as to the regular retail prices and the greatly reduced sale prices, one price, no deviation, a school girl can purchase as intelligently as any person, as the price tags will plainly show the price concessions.

We cannot quote any prices here and to appreciate the great money-saving opportunity an early call of investigation is necessary, for we believe these great bargains will go quickly.

However, as an illustration of bargains in good pianos and organs, we offer the following:

Five plain cases upright pianos, dependable in every way, former retail price, $300, $250 and $275; to close at $127, $124 to $103.

Terms: $15 to $25 cash, $5 to $10 monthly, or cash.

Nine parlor size, uprights, various standard make pianos, in exceptionally pretty carved cases, in oak, mahogany and figured walnut; former prices, $300, $255 and $350; to close at $158, $227 to $257.

Terms: $15 to $30 cash and $5 to $10
per month, or cash.

Numerous highest class pianos that retail regularly for $375, $400, $425 and $450; to close at $243, $267, $287 to $308.

Terms: $15 to $25 cash and $5 to $10 per month, or cash.

All others at proportionate discounts.

We have some exceptional bargains in used upright pianos and square pianos ranging in price from $25 to $150.

Organs, organs, organs! Fifty organs to close out at less than half value, on easy monthly payments.

Used, high top organs in splendid condition, as good as new, to close $27 to $55.

Five new organs, worth $75, $80, $110 to $135, to close at $47, $53, $67,
to $75.

Terms: $5 to $10 cash and $3 to $5
monthly, or cash.

Attend the sale early to secure the best choice. These bargains will go these functions to perform their proper work.

Thousands of sick ones to whom life has been a burden have written grateful letters that others might profit by their experience.

BIRMINGHAM GAZETTE, Feb. 10, 1903.
I was afflicted with indigestion and kidney trouble and sent to my druggist for Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup.

As he sent me a package of Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup I concluded to try it, and now I am deeply grateful to my druggist for sending me this medicine.

I had been a sufferer from these things and a general run-down condition for six years, and had only received temporary relief from medicines. But after using two bottles of Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup I feel strong and healthy as ever.

I am satisfied that I am entirely cured. I feel that this medicine is as good as any living man's and I can not say enough for it.

I never had any remedy give me such quick and permanent relief. I can not say enough for it. I would not take any amount of money for it. Very gratefully yours, J. C. BROWN.

Fence Rail Philosophy.

From Farm Life.

Keep fooling away and success will keep away.

Belief in worry has caused many a man to worry.

If there is any following to be done let the other fellow do it.

Parting the hair in the middle don't balance a fellow's mind.

The bad habits of a horse can only be corrected by horse sense.

Farming is like a war—barrow—it takes push to make it go.

Within his income is the only place on earth where a man can live happily.

Decision counts in farming the same as in any other business.

Yes or no, "never" "perhaps."

In addition to big crops, the right sort of a man can raise a big lot of happiness on a mighty small farm.

The fellow that quarrels with a woman is always in the wrong—somewhere between the beginning and the end.

The man that wants but little here below ought to be satisfied with an investment in the steel or ship-building trust.

The fellow that is hurt by having to borrow money must generally have a proxy of pain at just the thought of paying it back.

Some fellows sit around town and whistle and chirp like a jack-knife in a day that they will make with an ax on the woodpile in a week.

Best Cough Medicine for Children.

When you buy a cough medicine for small children you want one in which you can place implicit confidence. You want one that not only relieves but cures. You want one that is unquestionably harmless. You want one that is pleasant to take. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy meets all of these conditions. There is nothing as good for the coughs and colds incident to childhood. It is also a certain preventive and cure for croup, and there is no danger whatever from whooping cough when it is given. It has been used in many epidemics of that disease with perfect success.

The Gossips' Way.

Miss Gossip—It's easy to tell when a man's been drinking.

Mr. Goodart—Yes; so easy that even if he hasn't you go ahead and tell it any way.

Capt. Merry's Address.

The News is in receipt of "The Future of Tennessee, Mississippi, and Louisiana," an address delivered by Capt. J. F. Merry at a banquet of the Illinois Central Land Agents' Association of Illinois and Iowa, held at the Auditorium, Chicago, January 14, 1904.

The booklet contains fourteen pages and gives a full and complete account of the states which are traversed by the Illinois Central and the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroads have prospered during the recent years and a favorable prediction of their future prosperity.

POLITICAL COMMENT.

Looking For Harmony.

Some of the Kentucky politicians at Washington resent Cleveland's indorsement of Judge Parker for President. We think it is all right. Now if W. J. Bryan would come out for Parker, we would begin to think harmony was at hand to visit the party once more.—Fulton Commercial.

Serene Old Kentucky.

Kentucky is serene and sane once more and it is homemade serenity and natural sanity, in no wise due to the doctors at Washington. Kentucky is in condition for practical use of her voice and votes in the coming rally of sane Democracy.—Somerset Journal.

Gifts of Gab Not Wanted.

The objection to Judge Parker because he will not talk is not well taken. Neither party has ever shown itself enured of the man with the gift of gab.—Owensboro Inquirer.

One Wise Conclusion.

The Democrats of the country seem to have made up their minds that it would be little less than political insanity to go from bad to worse by dropping Bryan and taking up Hearst.

—Kansas City Star.

Before the Mirror.

"It requires a brave man to stand up against error in his own political party," says Mr. Bryan, smiling sweetly before the mirror.—Washington Post.

A Bad Judge.

It is possible that Bryan really thinks Hearst is fit to be President.
Bryan, it will be recalled, thought himself fit to be President.—Kansas City Journal.

The Party's Disfigurement.

It is the misfortune of the Democratic party that it always has a class of Democrats who, while madly fighting Republicanism, as they imagine, are conscious as valuable assets to the Republicans themselves. And it is this class of Democrats that is fond of yelling "traitor" at Democrats who seek to fight Democracy's battles in a rational way.—Somerset Journal.

Proof of Parker's Strength.

The Republican papers are copying approvingly the opinion of Mr. Bryan that Judge Parker is not available as a Democratic candidate for the presidency.—Georgetown Times.

A disordered stomach may cause a deal of trouble. When the stomach fails to perform its functions the bowels become deranged, the liver and kidneys congested, causing numerous diseases, the most fatal of which are painful and therefore the more to be dreaded. The important thing is to restore the stomach and liver to a healthy condition and for that purpose no better preparation can be used than Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For Sale by Short & Haynes.

Rival of Mammoth Cave.

Colossal cavern, two miles from Mammoth Cave, will be explored by the engineers of the Louisville and Nashville railroad to its limits in the immediate future. The cavern has already been explored to the distance of five miles, and the subterranean formations are said to surpass in beauty and size even those of Mammoth Cave, a short distance away.

The interior of the cave is perfectly white and has never been stained by the smoke of torches, the only lights that have been carried inside up to this time being acetylene gas. The cave was for years thought to be only a small excavation, and its magnitude was first discovered by a native named Hunt.—Louisville Courier

Want Smoot Expelled.

Mrs. James J. F. Winchell, Mary Sanders, Walter Weatherford, H. W. Cockrell, C. C. Whitehead, Alva Ryan, Henry Tate, Grace England and numerous other women of Tubbston, Ind., have petitioned Congress to expel Senator Reed Smoot.—Washington telegram to Indianapolis Star.

A British Treasure.

In the jewel house of the Tower of London, the place where the crown and other royal insignia are kept, there is a book bound throughout in gold, even to the wires of the hinges. Its clasp is two rubies set at opposite ends of four golden links. On one side there is a cross of diamonds; on the other the English coat of arms set in diamonds, pearls and rubies.

Aptly Described.

"I have been courting her for two years, said the disconsolate one, "and I am certain that she will refuse me when I propose."

"Ah, that is interesting," said the amateur photographer, "a sort of undeveloped negative."—Pittsburgh Press.

He Dropped In.

"You don't object to a contributor dropping into poetry once in awhile, I presume?" said the visitor, with an affable smile.

"Certainly not, sir. Sit down," replied the editor, pushing the waste paper basket toward him.

Out of Consideration for the Mule.

From the Washington Star.

"Why don't you try to drive that mule without profanity?"

"It wouldn't do any good," answered the cavalier. "It ain't fair to the mule to ask it to start in at the time of life to learn a whole lot of polite symbolisms."

Good for Children.

The pleasure to take and harness
One Minute Cough Cure gives immediate relief in all cases of Cough, Croup and LaGrippe because it does not pass immediately into the stomach, but takes effect right at the seat of the trouble. It draws out the inflammation, heals and soothes and cures permanently by enabling the lungs to contribute pure life-giving and life sustaining oxygen to the blood and tissues. One Minute Cough Cure is pleasant to taste and it is good also for young and old. Sold by All Druggists.

Substitute For Candles.

There were two substitutes for candles. The one was the ancient oil lamp, the candle (French expression, a delicious metaphor) with an upright back at the base to be hung up by. There was a newer, smarter, no doubt, to graduate the use of the oil. At the apex of the angle was flame, coming from a wick made of pick of rushes, which might be cut at full moon, as the flame was thought to wax and wane with the moon or cut at any other time. The other substitute for the candle was the bog candle. It was made by splitting up the redwood logs and the principal firs that are found imbedded in the bogs.

They were left to dry at the roadside over the creek or chain that held up the pole over the fire. The candlestick, called the peerman, was a stone with a hole in its center, into which was fixed the end of the candle. Four feet high and tipped with a cleft piece of iron, into which the candle fitted. The nose of the candle was always turned to the door.—Blackwood's Magazine.

When Japanese Maids are Jilted.

A Japanese woman when abandoned by her lover takes a peculiar and picturesque revenge.

When she no longer has any doubt as to his faithlessness, she goes on in the middle of the night and puts on a pleasing dress and wooden sandals.
Attached to her headpiece she carries three lighted candles, and suspended from her neck hangs a small mirror.

She takes in her left hand a small straw ether of the faithless one, and in her right a hammer and nails.

Walking gravely to the sanctuary, she selects one of the sacred trees, and nails the ether securely to the trunk.

She then prays for the faithless one, praying for the end of his unfaithfulness, vowing that if her wish is granted she will take out the nails which trouble her soul, since they are fastened to a sacred tree. Night after night she comes to the tree, adding one or two nails and repeating her prayers, persuaded that the god will not hesitate to sacrifice the man to save the tree.—London Mail.

A Floral Mystery.

The Chinese, Japanese and Siamese are peculiarly skilful at botanical feats. One of their wonderful achievements is known as the "changeable rose." This bloom is white in the shade and red in the sunlight. After night or in a dark room this curiosity of the rose family is a pure, waxy white blossom. When transferred to the open air, the transformation immediately steps in, the time of the entire change of the flower from white to red depending on the degree of sunlight and warmth. First the petals take on a kind of washed or pink graded color and rapidly change to a blush of pink. The pink gradually deepens in hue until you find that your lily white rose of an hour before is as red as the reddest peony that ever blossomed.

Auctions In China.

To a stranger a Chinese auction is a most curious spectacle. The auctioneer leans over a slightly elevated counter and exhibits his wares. He says nothing, neither does the bidder, who merely steps forward to the auctioneer and runs his fingers up his sleeve, making pressure on the salesman's arm. This indicating how much he will pay for the article. Then another and another repeat the action until the one significantly higher price secures the article without a word being exchanged on either side. Only the auctioneer and the successful bidder know the price offered and accepted.

The Business Man and His Stenographer.
From the New York Sun.
To the Editor of the Sun-Sir: That the average business man does not know how to dictate a letter properly is not necessarily any reflection on his general intelligence or education. Every really competent stenographer knows this. It is the business of a well qualified stenographer to supply the deficiency in his employer's literary attainments. He should have the tact and ability to correct quietly all errors in dictation, whether grammatical or rhetorical, always preserving the dictator's style and language as far as possible.
There are some employers, however -capable, practical men of executive ability- who, although their education may have been sufficient, are almost devoid of any literary sense; yet they are so stubborn in their notions of written English that they do not take kindly to the correction of their stenographers, no matter how tactfully executed. Such employers may be better satisfied with an amanuensis who transcribes notes just as they are dictated, right or wrong; and that is about all the majority of stenographers ever pretend to do away.
The real difficulty with the average business man is that he is not as yet educated up to the full and proper use of the stenographer. It is up to the average stenographer to impart this education, but he must educate himself first.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20, 1904.

The Butler dealers are all pinching themselves for selling so early. But they will make good money and are not kicking very hard.

In the Democratic state convention at Albany, N. Y., Monday, the delegates were instructed by a vote of 391 to 149 for Judge Alton B. Parker as the State's candidate for president.

Suits filed against State banks for back taxes, among them the suits of Frank A. Lucas, auditor's agent, were dismissed in the different county courts of Kentucky Monday.

The passage of the bill repealing the internal revenue tax of 6 cents a pound on leaf tobacco by the lower house of Congress, on Monday, comes as good news to the farmers, as it will mean free trade in leaf tobacco and an open market for them.

The B. F. Heard Tobacco Co., of Hardinsburg, sold last week a lot of Burley at the handsome price of $14.50 a pound, $15.50 being the top price. This is a good sale and shows that Breckenridge Burleys stand well in the market. This company has on hands now over 3,000,000 pounds of dark tobacco which have also advanced about $1 per hundred. They are not offering any of these grades on the market, believing the time is not yet ripe for selling. They are not afraid of the trust and do not have to sell until the market suits them. It is a fine thing for any community to have men in business with plenty of capital who know their business and are not afraid to invest their money. These are the men who do more to keep the trusts in line than any other force. No trust on earth can knock out the independent man, the man who knows his business and is not afraid. There is no telling how low the price of tobacco would have gone had it not been for this firm, the only independent buyers in this market. We hope this company will make a big pile of money on their dark purchase, continue to grow and expand, and hold the trusts in line.

Important Decision.
In the court of appeals Friday the case of the Louisville and Evansville Packet company, appellant from the Breckenridge circuit court, was reversed. The circuit court decided at the February term that the above company had a right to sell liquor on its boats, as the Ohio river was not included in the local option district. The decision of the appellate court makes bare on the boats that land at this point a thing of the past.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one cure, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; none cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Louisville Live Stock Market.
Reported by Dan Brooks & Co. Central Stock Yards.
Louisville, April 18.—Arrivals were fairly liberal. Market generally was slow, however, all the best grades of butcher cattle sold around steady prices; common kinds were dull and sold slowly at 5 to 10c decline from last Monday. Stockers and feeders being in light supply, held about steady and all sold readily, except the common grades, which are usually hard to work off. Bulls, canners, fresh cows and springers unchanged. Chicago had a record breaker in the cattle line, reporting 41,000 head and 10 to 15c decline; this caused buyers to feel nervous and all the heavy cattle sold 10 to 20c lower, and a dull market prevailed for all the offerings.
Calves—Market for choice veals $4.50 to 5; common and heavy calves $3 to 4.
Hogs—There was a moderate run on sale. Market opened with early sales being made at steady prices, which were as follows: Choice corn-fed hogs, 165 lbs. and up, $5.20; light Yorkers $4.95; heavy pigs $4.20 to $4.40; light pigs $4 to $4.15; toughs $4 to $4.65. Later in the day advices from other markets, especially Chicago (which reported $2.000 and values 10 to 15c lower), caused prices to decline strong 10c lower on all classes, and the market closed weak. Prospects lower.
Sheep and lambs—Steady prices prevailed for all choice grades; but fat sheep and butcher lambs ready sale at quotations.

THE HORSEMAN

If you want to buy a Horse tell Me, Please.

The reason I ask you to tell me whether or not you want to buy a horse is this: Because I know I can and I will, if you will permit me, sell you the very horse you want and one that will satisfy you in every respect.

My long and varied experience with horses has given me a knowledge of them which enables me to be a competent judge of a horse.

Horses for all manner of work or livery hire can be had of me. My prices are what they should be. They represent the actual value of the animal.

What Advertising Did.

A dry goods firm at Earlington, Ky., took a page advertisement in The Earlington Bee and offered a suit of clothes to the person bringing the largest number of people in one wagon to their store on Saturday, April 2. As a result the house was packed all day and twenty-eight clerks were taxed to the utmost in waiting on the people. One man brought 140 people in a six-wheeled ox-wagon drawn by four yokes of oxen. Two men were astride each ox and 134 people were squeezed into the wagon like sardines. Many others brought loads of 15 to 48 persons.

SOFT CORE

Like the running brook, the red blood that flows through the veins has to come from somewhere.

The springs of red blood are found in the soft core of the bones called the marrow and some say red blood also comes from the spleen. Healthy bone marrow and healthy spleen are full of fat.

Scott's Emulsion makes new blood by feeding the bone marrow and the spleen with the richest of all foods, the pure cod liver oil.

For pale school girls and invalids and for all whose blood is thin and pale, Scott's Emulsion is a pleasant and rich blood food. It not only feeds the blood-making organs but gives them strength to do their proper work.

CAME NEAR DYING

From an Awful Skin Humour. Scratched Till Blood Ran. Wasted to Skeleton.

CURED BY CUTICURA

One Application Soothed Him to Sleep. Cure Speedy and Permanent.

"When my little boy was about three months old his head broke out with a rash, which was very itchy and ran considerable watery fluid. We tried everything we could, but he got worse all the time till it spread to his arms, legs, and then to his entire body, and he got so bad that he came near dying. The rash would itch so that he would scratch till the blood ran, and a thin yellowish stuff would flow over his pillow in the morning. I had to put mittens on his hands to keep him from tearing his skin around his wrists. He got so weak and run down that he took fainting spells like we would think him dying. He was almost a skeleton and his little hands were thin like claws."

"He was about eight months when we tried Cuticura Remedies. I had not laid him down in his cradle in the daytime for a long time. He had got so that he just slept in our arms all the time. I washed him with Cuticura Soap and put on one application of Cuticura Ointment and he was so soothed that I put him in the cradle. You don't know how glad I felt when he felt better. It took one box of Cuticura Ointment, pretty near one cake of Cuticura Soap, and about half a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, to cure. I think my little boy would have died only for the Cuticura Remedies, and I shall always remain a firm friend of Cuticura."

Mrs. M. C. McLANE, JASSEN, OMAHA, NEBRASKA.
No return in 14 years. Mrs. Matland writes, under date of Feb. 24, 1903, that the cure is permanent. "I have had so much pleasure in informing you that it is fourteen years since my boy was cured of the terrible skin disease from which he suffered."

Lewis, who has been so ill with measles, is much improved and hopes to be able to see her many friends again very soon. Mr. and Mrs. Calloway, who spent the winter with their sister, Mrs. Kate Bennett, left last week for their home in Smithfield, Ky.

Count no duty too little, no round of life too small, no work too low, since God thinks so much of it as to send his angels to guard them in it. Mrs. Kate Washington, being an unusually good nurse, came in to wait on Mrs. Lewis while her Lewis filled his appointment at Stephensport.

Wednesday last there were special services at the Catholic church. A Frenchman father and Father Gable, of Hardinsburg, were the guests of our resident priest.

Floyd Roberts, little eighteen months old child that has been so seriously ill for many days, is not any better at this writing. There is very grave doubt of his recovery.

Dragging Pains

2825 Wesley St., CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 2, 1902.

I suffered with falling and dragging pains through the groin. I suffered terribly at the time of menstruation, had blinding headaches and rushing of blood to the brain. What to try I knew not, for it seemed that I had tried all and failed, but I had never tried Wine of Cardui for menstrual disorders, bearing down pains and blinding headaches when all other remedies failed to bring her relief. Any sufferer may secure health by taking Wine of Cardui in her home. The first bottle convinces the patient she is on the road to health.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Rev. J. T. Rushing, Presiding Elder of the M. E. church, delivered an excellent sermon Friday evening last Saturday and Sunday evening. But the sermon on Sunday evening was the best the people have heard for many days. It was an old, new, up-to-date sermon.

The house was crowded with very attentive people. Besides being a fine preacher Rev. Rushing is a fine singer. The one who beats him will have to get up before day-light, for he is as full of "get up and get" as any one could wish for in a preacher.

QUEEN OF ACTRESSES

PRAISES PE-RU-NA

MISS JULIA MARLOWE.

In a recent letter to The Peruna Medicine Co., Miss Julia Marlowe of New York City, has the following to say of Peruna:

"I am glad to write my endorsement of the great remedy, Peruna, as a nerve tonic. I do so most heartily."—Julia Marlowe.

Nervousness is very common among women. This condition is due to anemic nerve centers. The nerve centers are the reservoirs of nervous vitality. These centers become bloodless for want of proper nutrition. This is especially true in the spring season. Every spring a host of invalids are produced as the direct result of weak nerves.

This could be easily obviated by the use of Peruna. Peruna strikes at the root of the difficulty by correcting the digestion. Digestion furnishes nutrition for the nerve centers.

$10,000 forfeit if we cannot produce the original letter and signature of above testimonial which well demonstrates its full genuineness.
